

GEORGIA DERMATOLOGIC SURGERY CENTERS

WHAT Georgia Dermatologic Surgery Centers, P.C. is a full service dermatologic surgery practice with three locations in metro-Atlanta. The practice specializes in Mohs micrographic surgery, melanoma excisions, advanced reconstruction and cosmetic dermatologic surgery.

Mohs surgery is a highly specialized treatment for the total removal of skin cancer. Named for the physician who developed the technique, this method differs from all other methods of treating skin cancer by the use of complete microscopic examination of all the margins of the tissues removed surgically as well as the detailed mapping techniques to allow the surgeon to remove every cancer cell.

Because Georgia Dermatologic Surgery Centers has a State and Medicare licensed Ambulatory Surgery Center onsite, the doctors are able to perform Mohs surgery and the highest level of reconstructive surgery available in a comfortable and safe environment. Both doctors have trained with the world leader in reconstructive skin cancer surgery - Dr. John Zitelli – so anything removed in the office can be reconstructed in the office with rare exceptions.

In addition to being leaders in Mohs surgery, Georgia Dermatologic Surgery Centers offers an array of in-office, cosmetic procedures performed under local anesthesia including Botox, Restylane and Juvederm, chemical peels, sclerotherapy, tumescent liposuction, fat transfers, blepharoplasty, otoplasty, laser skin resurfacing and scar revisions.

WHO Georgia Dermatologic Surgery Centers was founded by Dr. Mark Baucom in 1996 and Dr. David Pharis joined Dr. Baucom in practice in 2001. Drs. Baucom and Pharis both completed residency in Dermatology at Emory University School of Medicine in Atlanta before completing a prestigious fellowship in Mohs Micrographic and Dermatologic Surgery with Dr. John Zitelli in Pittsburgh.

WHY In addition to offering the highest level of skin cancer surgery, Georgia Dermatologic Surgery Centers offers its patients the most advanced cosmetic surgical procedures in dermatology. The practice is able to offer these procedures in the safest possible environment because it is one of few in the area with an onsite accredited Ambulatory Surgery Center. With a noticeable attention to detail and to patients' needs the doctors and staff at Georgia Dermatologic Surgery Centers will take extra steps to make patients as comfortable as possible.
